

TO THE VOTERS OF BRYAN, TEXAS.

Some of my friends have suggested to me that I might be elected City Secretary this spring. I have no desire or intention of entering into politics, but heeding the solicitations of friends, I hereby announce for the position, subject to the action of the democratic primary February 28.

My Platform.

I promise if elected I will have no other employment and will be in the office every day while I hold it, giving my best personal attention to every detail, and will keep every item in connection with the office up to the moment at all times. I submit that no one else could do more.

My Argument.

I have lived in Bryan more than ten years. I have worked every day. I have paid my debts. I have given liberally of my limited means to churches, schools and to charities and benevolence.

I have had much experience in the duties of this office and thoroughly understand every duty in connection with it.

I have no words except words of kindness and commendation for each of the others who have announced for this position.

It is impossible at present for me to make a personal canvass. You all know me. If you elect me I will appreciate it and will do my full duty, as I here promised.

TO CHECK NAVARRO'S ADVANCE

[Special to The Bryan Eagle.] El Paso, Texas, Feb. 11.—The insurgents of General Orozco's command today blew up two bridges on the Northwestern railroad near San Jose, tearing up fifteen miles of track, thus precluding the possibility that General Navarro with his army of 1000 federals can reach Juarez today. General Navarro is about sixty miles south of Juarez.

The situation today is more like a siege than heretofore. The insurgents are scattered on three sides of Juarez, the 1500 rebels forming a half circle. Juarez is practically under martial law.

Each Win a Game of Basketball—Both Games Hard Struggles for Victory.

In the basketball games yesterday afternoon and last night between Allen Academy and Houston High School the two teams broke even, each winning one of the games. The afternoon game resulted in a tie, score 9 to 9, and the tie was played off in a short after-game, Allen Academy scoring two points more than their opponents, making the game a victory for them, the score being 11 to 9.

At night the game was a decisive victory for the Houston team, score 17 to 10. Both games were clever, fast and real exhibitions of good basketball. The two teams were evenly matched and those who attended the games were well entertained.

ENTIRE LEGISLATURE AT A. & M. COLLEGE

not being trained to be captains in war, but captains of industry.

The college, he said, had more boys living in tents than the entire enrollment five years ago. He said he was glad the legislators were there to see the tents for themselves. They had, of course, read of them in the newspapers, but "the half had never been told." He compared the splendid appropriations made by Iowa and Illinois for their schools to what had heretofore been done by Texas.

He again thanked the legislators for coming in behalf of these many boys, so that when they went away they could repeat with the Roman mother when asked to show her jewels, they could point to the splendid corps at A. & M. and say "these are my jewels."

Col. Milner was followed by Representative Bonner, of Smith county; Representative Byrne, of Bastrop county; Senator Cofer, of Cook, and Senator Hume, of Harris. All of them expressed themselves most emphatically as friends of A. & M. and pledged themselves to do all in their power to see that the college got every appropriation asked for.

[Special to The Bryan Eagle.]

College Station, Texas, Feb. 11.—The coming of the legislature of Texas to A. & M. college is a big event, and one that means much to the educational interests of the state.

Just at this time the educational interests of Texas are of paramount importance. There is a movement, encouraged by the inaugural message of the governor, to strengthen the public school system by the establishment of county high schools. The superintendent of education is endorsing the work. The needs of the university are being given attention and that A. & M. college needs much to put it on a basis equal to the demands for higher industrial education is admitted. Mr. Colquitt stated before he was elected and has said since he became governor that he will be as liberal with A. & M. college as the revenues of the state will permit. He is friendly to the college and to the betterment of its facilities. The Conference for Education is making a strong fight for more equipment in the institutions of higher education and for larger appropriations.

With such influences at work, and with the members of the legislature themselves satisfied in their own minds that there must be something done, the coming at this time of the legislature of the state to A. & M. college means something of vast importance.

It is the first time that the legislature has adjourned to attend in a body an educational institution of the state located away from the state capital.

The college property consists of 2416 acres of land in Brazos county. There are a large number of buildings on the property, and the interests are large.

The legislative special train arrived at 11 o'clock. It brought a large number of visitors. They were met at the station by the college officers, the members of the board of directors, members of the alumni association and the ladies of the campus. The battery of artillery of the cadet corps fired a salute of twenty-one guns. A procession was formed and the visitors were taken to the assembly hall under the leadership of the student brass band.

Welcoming addresses were made by the president of the board of directors, Mr. W. A. Trenckmann, of Austin, and the president of the college, Col. R. T. Milner, and responses were made by members of both the house and the senate. From the assembly hall the visitors were taken to the mess hall for dinner. Directly after dinner they were taken first to the tent section, where there are 243 tents, each occupied by two students. Then there was an inspection of the two dormitories and a tour of the departments. At each of the departments James Hays Quarles, of the department of journalism, made a brief statement of the condition in that department.

At 4 o'clock there was dress parade for the visitors by the cadet corps, Capt. Andrew Moses directing the military evolutions.

At 5 o'clock supper was served for the visitors, the train leaving for the return trip at 6 p. m. The visitors were informed that the college has been forced to adopt the policy of employing unmarried men because there are no more homes on the campus for families. Employment of unmarried men is not satisfactory, as there is no assurance that an unmarried man will remain permanently, and constant changes in the teaching force are not conducive to the best results. Added to that is the further argument that a large "community" will be helpful to the students.

The chapel has reached its capacity.

The corps now crowds it every time it assembles.

Further information about the college was prepared in brief form and distributed to the visitors on a program pamphlet.

Citizens Meet Legislators.

A number of the citizens of Bryan, headed by Mr. J. A. Myers, chairman of the reception committee, met the special train carrying the legislature to College, which arrived in the city this morning at 10:30 o'clock, and exchanged greetings with the lawmakers. There were not over seventy-five members of the legislature on the train. Many citizens boarded the cars, shaking hands and distributing Havanas among the members. Many of the citizens remained on the train and went to College with the party to be present at the reception there.

Senator J. R. Astin and Representative J. L. Fountain were among the party and escorted the reception committee on their tour through the train, introducing the Bryanites to the distinguished visitors. Large numbers of citizens attended the afternoon entertainment at College, going on the inter-urban.

GOOD WORK

Done Daily in Bryan—Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Bryan still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

W. J. Walker, Caldwell street, Bryan, Texas, says: "For some time I was annoyed by a kidney weakness. I also had severe pains in my back and I found difficulty in attending to my daily duties. Some time ago I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills, and getting a supply at Emmet & Maloney's drug store, I began their use. Their effect was prompt and the results of their use were more satisfactory than I had received from any other preparation I had previously tried. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly, knowing from experience that they are a specific for kidney disorders."
